

Proposal Abstract:

The atomic-molecular transition within the interstellar medium is pivotal for comprehending the evolutionary mechanisms of this medium. Based on CO data, we reveal a young molecular cloud linked to the supershell GSH 139-03-09. To explore the spatial distribution of cold HI gas and thus atomic-molecular transition within this cloud, we propose a sensitive HI grid mapping survey of this molecular cloud.